PROUDLY DELIVERING THE LOCAL BUYING PROGRAM IN PARTNERSHIP

WELCOME

Well what an exciting 12 months which has come and gone for the Local Buying Foundation. A strong focus on continuing to deliver strategic regional initiatives has seen a diverse and innovative approach, and most importantly a sustainable injection of funding across the region to enhance our communities.

The Foundation welcomed new Advisory Committee members from throughout the Central Highlands, Isaac and Mackay regions with each of them contributing greatly to the input and priority alignment of Foundation investments. We have also seen the departure of some Advisory Committee members throughout the year to which I thank you all sincerely for your time, insight and dedication to supporting our regions. Peter Dowling, Garry Scanlan and Blake Repine – we wish you all the very best for the future.

A special highlight throughout the year was witnessing the Central Highlands and Isaac regions' business communities benefit from the business support and facilitation services being offered as a result of the Foundation initiative, Bridging the Boundaries: Business Facilitator Program.

Business development, supporting the current needs and the future orientated vision of small to medium businesses throughout the Mackay region will be a priority for the Foundation this year. In achieving this, we will continue to work with our Advisory Committee to identify possible opportunities in strengthening business connectivity and collaboration across the regions.

The success of the Local Buying Foundation could not be possible without the continued advancement of the Local Buying Program nationally across BHP. In Queensland alone, the Local Buying Program achieved a record milestone of $101,709,164 million of approved spend this year through local business communities of BMA and BMC coal operations.

This spend through the Program has injected more funding into the Foundation, enabling the delivery of outcomes which focused on workforce and economic development, regional promotion and business development projects, all targeting the growth of many individual businesses' capability and capacity.

Entering a new financial year brings opportunities to identify strategic initiatives with alignment to our three year strategic plan, along with continuing to deliver current projects and initiatives such as the Drones for Schools project, AgFrontier: New Agtech Incubator Hub and sponsorship of local business excellence awards, conferences and forums.

I wish to extend my appreciation to the Foundation Advisory Committee and to the varied partners who have been crucial in our successes this year.
